

Vame

Lopsided Liquid Demonstration Worksheet

Discussion Questions

2. Water and isopropyl alcohol have different densities. One substance has a density of 0.785 g/mL, and the other has a density of 1.00 g/mL. Which substance has which density? Explain your reasoning.

3. What would happen to the levels in the U-tube if you were to shake it and mix the water and the isopropyl alcohol together?